We really wish they would remember the true spirit of Easter.....

although quite what that is may be open to question. What have we just celebrated?

We can confidently say that we have celebrated the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ, and that in his resurrection we find hope for life eternal. Well, perhaps.

The trouble with Christianity is that it is actually spectacularly diverse, and that what one person sees as self-evident another will question completely. I remember taking part in a debate in a youth group with the motion being “The bodily resurrection is vital to Christian belief”. The opponents to the motion were neither atheists nor agnostics, heretics nor Devil’s Advocates. They were local preachers who believed that a spiritual resurrection was all that was required for belief.

Since those times, thirty years ago now, I have met ordained ministers who believe that the resurrection is a metaphor, a story that opens up a greater truth to us, a parable of victory out of abject defeat. I have met a preacher who defined a Christian as someone who believed in the virgin birth of Jesus, and those who would laugh themselves silly at such a belief. I have met those who believe that Christ will return in the next year or two, and those for whom Christ is an outmoded term.

What is our borderline that we inscribe around the faith? Do we require that all hold to particular doctrines, or that all shun them? A sign on the Grove’s notice board states that all are welcome, but is there anywhere we draw the line? What is our guide, and what our watchword?

The early Christians had only one statement of faith, one creed by which someone was counted within the church, and it is this:

Jesus is Lord.

Whatever our beliefs, our doctrines, our backgrounds, our comfort zones, hopes or fears, just this.

Jesus is Lord.

Now and forever. Halleluiah!

The Church has got Talent?

Along with others, I recently spent the warmest weekend of the year so far, engrossed in the business of Methodist Council, ahead of Methodist Conference in July. Were we privileged, or burdened, or blessed to be entrusted with this work? Well, probably all three, but we were certainly enriched in many ways by the experience. At each Council Meeting, once we come to terms with the daunting weight of paper, and look at the treasures within, we find ourselves greatly encouraged by the rich tapestry of the Methodist Church. For within the agenda we discover immense resource. There are resources of people and finance and property. Some of each of those things are being exercised to the full, and bearing tangible fruit; some are being explored or developed more tentatively, but showing green shoots to be nurtured and loved into fullness; some of each of these things - people, finance and property - appear still to be buried, or locked into unhelpful ways. We all need to be alert to contexts in which resources of any kind are wasted or undervalued.

Jesus told stories about the use of resources. Two of them, in Luke's and Matthew's gospels, are stories about 'talents'. The word 'talent' has carried a dual meaning of money and giftedness. To most people in our communities it would now be understood in the "Who's Got Talent?" sense of potential for celebrity status. This is quite a long way from the parables that Jesus told, but echoes the idea that there is buried treasure among us, which we can discover and celebrate.

My reflections on Methodist Council might be equally true of the Church in contexts that are closer to home for us—the reports and conversations about church activities, and God's mission around us, in every context. We can often feel weary and defensive: stuck waiting for the seemingly inevitable, 'talent' buried and denied. In contrast, the resourcefulness of people when they are really energised by their faith is astonishing and life-giving, in ways that speak of the generosity and grace of the gospel we proclaim. In the seasons of Easter and Pentecost may we rise to the challenge of being fully alive, stirred from sleep into the risks of offering the active engagement of all our resources in response to the needs and opportunities around us.

Grove International Concert Season

Australian born guitarist Craig Ogden

Sunday 15th May at 3.00pm is the final concert in the current season of Grove concerts. The internationally renowned classical guitarist Craig Ogden is back with us. All those who heard him last time will not want to miss another concert by this talented and charming musician. Craig Ogden regularly appears as soloist and chamber musician at the major London venues including the Purcell Room, Queen Elizabeth Hall, Wigmore Hall and the Barbican.

An Appreciation from Ros. Ansell

First of all a big “thank you” for the ‘Grove Vine’ which is produced so wonderfully every month. It is an amazing effort – I don’t know how you do it. I am often touched and challenged by the letters and articles it contains and grateful for the information given to us.

I am a Grove member transferred from Hawksworth Wood some years ago. Sadly I was past my ‘best before’ date then and I have been on the receiving rather than the giving end ever since. I cannot begin to express my joy and gratitude for the welcoming love and friendship and all the fellowship and kindness and practical help given by ministers and people. I owe more than I can say to Peter and Janette Mawson, Sheila Shippey, Jean Orton and the Hearnings who regularly give me lifts to worship meetings, and to Jack Myers who instantly accepted me as one of his ‘oldie’ girl friends at his generous Sunday lunches. I am also indebted to Chris Shagouri and the Horsforth minibuses and driver Tony which, although out of the Horsforth boundary, calls to bring me to the Monday Women’s Fellowship and lunches, and to my Pastoral carer Margaret Bosomworth. I owe it to ex-Superintendent minister, Rev’d Marian Jones that I was reinstated on the Local Preachers list from being on the Visiting Preachers list from St Mary’s Hawksworth Wood, where I still worship on Sunday mornings.

I felt it right to worship at one service in the community where I live and where at one time I was a volunteer in the local Community Centre. I have the best of both worlds for I do love and value the Anglican Liturgy and have for many years been ecumenically minded, and think that in spite of our theological differences we need to love and help each other in fulfilling God’s purpose and witness in the community and tradition in which we were brought up. I am not a confirmed member of St Mary’s, as I am already a baptised and confirmed member of the Methodist Church, but in all other ways I am a member of St Mary’s Church as well as Grove.

I am still in close contact with ex- Hawksworth Wood members who transferred to Central and Headingley so nothing is lost.

The years and life’s experiences give and take, but the ministry of love and prayer is an ongoing gift of comfort and grace.

Thank you for the ‘Vine’ and for all my dear friends at Grove and for all I cannot put into words – all the love of the past and the present, I am on the ‘last lap’ now but sing with a full and thankful heart

“’Tis Jesus the first and the last,
Whose Spirit shall guide us safe home.
I’ll praise him for all that is past,
And trust him for all that’s to come.”

Magnet

Magnet started life in 1987 as the magazine for Women’s Network. It was edited by a team of volunteers who produced a very high quality quarterly magazine with articles which aimed to encourage, enable and equip the women of Methodism in spiritual development, meditation and resources for leadership and personal use throughout the Christian year. The standard was exceptionally high calling on many talented and well known names in Methodism and beyond.

With the change in status of Network to being a self funding group to be renamed Methodist Women in Britain (MWiB), Magnet itself was ‘privatised’ one year ago. It still has the same aims to nurture Christian faith in thoughtful, challenging ways, encouraging, enabling and equipping for life, but it has widened its remit to include men and works ecumenically in association with Churches Together in Britain and Ireland.

Each issue provides a prayer focus, personal stories, worship material and a focus on world and justice issues with beautiful full colour illustrations and photographs.

If you have never read or seen a copy of Magnet, there are a few copies of the current edition available free in the Narthex. If you take one please try to pass it on to someone else you think might appreciate reading it. It costs £2.50 a quarter which is excellent value for such an inspiring and stimulating magazine. Renee Collinson is the distributor for the Grove and would be happy to take orders.

Treasures Revealed

Our Grove Methodist Church is joining with other churches in opening its doors to anyone interested in finding out more about places of worship in Leeds, as part of the project, “Treasures Revealed”.

The Church will be open to visitors during the afternoons of Sundays 1st May and 8th May, between 2.30 pm and 5.30pm.

Various artefacts showing the history and life of the church will be on display. There will also be the opportunity to see and hear extracts from our handwritten transcript of the Gospel according to St Mark. Hundreds of friends and members of the congregation have contributed to the 677 verses of this Gospel, using a range of translations, to mark the 400th Anniversary this year, of the publication of the King James (authorised) version of the Bible. Come and find the verse that you wrote!

At various times in the afternoons there will be the opportunity to hear the magnificent Rushworth and Dreaper organ and to explore the history and significance of the Victorian stained glass windows. Encourage friends and neighbours to come along at any time during the two open afternoons.

A warm welcome awaits all who visit.

Network Women's Fellowship

Our Grove Women's Fellowship meets every Monday. We enjoy an excellent three course meal, beautifully cooked and presented by Barbara Buckley and her friends, which provides a very good start to our afternoon meeting.

Our Fellowship is a very happy and welcoming group. It is open to all and we have some regular members from other churches in Horsforth. We have a range of good speakers every week, some visiting speakers on subjects of general interest such as aspects of Leeds, Kath Harwood and Sisters in Harmony and the Manager of Morrisons. Other Mondays we are pleased to welcome some of our own church members who come to entertain us, Jack Myers, David Whitely who gets us singing, Phil Maud who always comes around St Valentine's Day bringing a message and small tokens of his affection to make us feel young again and Dorina Overson, who, with unfailing optimism and patient encouragement, gives us exercises to keep us lithe and lissom! Recently we even had the privilege of a visit from John Wesley himself (Alistair!).

We also make various donations through the year from our fundraising Book and Sales Tables, one such being the Leeds Children's Holiday Fund.

As a Methodist Network group we share some events with other fellowships in the Circuit, the Service of Intercession and our Summer Strawberry Cream Tea.

Mondays are happy days and though we are a group of mature ladies we do know how to enjoy ourselves. Come and join us if you feel young enough!

St Mark's Biblefresh Quiz 2011

If you entered the Quiz set by Tim Pearson from St Mark's Methodist Church you may be interested to know that there was a draw and the winner was Christine Reid (ex Grove!). If you would like to see the list of answers please see Gill Jewell.

Christian Aid House to House Collections 15-21 May 2011

Due to illness and people leaving the area, the Grove will be many collectors missing this year. I am in the process of negotiating with St Margaret's to swap and change streets/roads to where our Grove members live to make it easier. Please contact me if you can possibly help as a new member of the team! Thank you to our existing collectors who have worked hard and supported Christian Aid for so many years.

More "Open Doors" at the Grove in May

During Holy Week and the Festival of Easter, The Grove Church has opened its doors for all to share outstandingly beautiful displays of flowers, inspirational preaching and wonderfully moving music.

The Grove Doors continue to be open wide in May as we host three big events:

- Treasures Revealed on Sundays, the 1st and 8th May
- The Leeds District Synod on Saturday, the 7th May
- The Craig Ogden Concert on Sunday, the 15th May

Whilst success lies in making our beautiful building available and inviting for visitors, the greater value lies in the warmth of welcome and sincerity of purpose that is felt by those who take part. Such goodwill is typical of volunteers at The Grove and is evident in offers of help for these events, but there is still time to join in the fun! Whatever the level of participation you are able to offer there will be a job to do!

If you would like to be a part of this fellowship and witness to our faith in Jesus Christ, please let me know as soon as possible.

Modern Hymn Writers (series 2)

Estelle White

A few years ago, choristers at the 12th-century St Mary's church in Wroxham, Norfolk, threw down their hymn books in disgust. The choir mistress and half her choir quit when their vicar, the Rev Andrew Parsons, asked them to sing the hymn, which begins:

‘Autumn days when the grass is jewelled
And the silk inside a chestnut shell,
Jet planes meeting in the air to be refuelled,
All these things I love so well.’

They felt that singing in praise of jet planes was not appropriate at the annual harvest festival.

(It reminds me of ‘God of concrete and of steel’ we used to sing occasionally and even earlier, a children’s post-war hymn about busy streets, buses and trains).

Needless to say, the author defended the words, especially as they are included in the BBC hymn book, Come and Praise, selling more than three million copies.

She considers Autumn Days, a hymn for children, rather jolly, though not necessarily her favourite. "All my hymns are very clear, very concrete. I don't believe God is vaguely out there sitting up on a cloud with a beard. I think you find the transcendental in everything, so I tend to write hymns that bring in concrete things."

Estelle White is the author and composer, a former Catholic nun and teacher of music and religion, with more than 100 published hymns, who lived in Dewsbury for the last 30 years and died recently.

Just one of the hundred is in Hymns and Psalms: ‘Moses, I know you’re the man, the Lord said’ (no.450).

It is a hymn based on the People of God, a phrase said to be taken from the documents of the Second Vatican Council. I would have said it came from Exodus, or Hebrews, or 1 Peter. (Perhaps that’s where the Vatican Council found it!). The rest of the hymn is thoroughly biblical, even though phrased differently.

The People of God are on the move, as with Moses and the children of Israel in the desert.

When Cardinal Basil Hume wrote a book with the title 'To be a Pilgrim' there was comment that this should have come from a Roman Catholic leader, a church often seen as conservative and moving only slowly. Here is talk of travelling as a pilgrim, and even perhaps a hint of Pilgrim's Progress by the Protestant John Bunyan.

The obituary in the Yorkshire Post describes Estelle White as one who played the piano, guitar, clarinet and saxophone, a member of the ATS strict tempo dance band, entertaining troops and admiring Duke Ellington and Count Basie, bringing echoes of their music into her own. She was a fun, feisty person, sweeping into the house from her peacock blue sports car, brandishing a long cigarette holder and enveloped in a cloud of Chanel No. 5.

I ask around for reactions to this hymn and find strong views both ways, with others on the fence. Certainly the hymn is not in the normal groove, especially the tune. 'Pure Scott Joplin,' said an organist I knew. And I know many Scott Joplin fans.

I ask myself: do I like the hymn? I think the words are great. And if I am in Scott Joplin mode, as I can be, the tune is great too.

More News from Jenny and Graham Longbottom in the Soloman Islands

“At the beginning of March Dr.Dina, Dr.Zotei & their family returned refreshed from their 11 week break back home in India. It was a challenging time for us but it was a pleasure to work with Dr. Eric Pana for the last month. It was his first time to work at Helena Goldie Hospital, having worked previously in Honiara for several years. It was therefore quite a special time for him to return home and work in the area where he grew up: many of the local people are his “wantok” i.e. extended family.”

March 25th was World TB Awareness Day. “Concern about rising T.B. globally with one in three people having been infected by the bacteria seems to be reflected in the Solomon Islands and also at Helena Goldie Hospital, where the general ward corridor is currently full of patients with T.B.”

“We were asked to visit one of the local “hot spots” to do some T.B. awareness & education, so Jenny went with 3 nurses and one of our current medical students to present a simple talk followed by scenarios acted out (based on patients that we had seen at the hospital) and finishing with a song with hurriedly composed words set to a well known tune. They were able to do the presentation in 3 villages over 2 days, including some school children who listened intently and laughed at the antics of a rather rebellious teenager who was reluctant to take his treatment. He was brought in at the end unable to stand due to a collapsed lung.”

“Until Friday 1st April the plan was for Jenny to go out touring with the health education & awareness team again to complete the T.B. program in north New Georgia, but an aeroplane ticket arrived on our desk for her to travel to Honiara. It has been an unusual 2 weeks with Jenny in Honiara for an international consultation with the aim of writing new guidelines for managing lung disease, TB in particular, in the Solomon Islands. Graham managed general ward and the out-patient department before joining her in Honiara to meet Steve Pearce - the Pacific representative for the Methodist Church who is here attending the Methodist Pacific Conference” They used the time in Honiara to do a number of jobs on behalf of the hospital and also began the process of renewing their residency & work permits.

“Graham continues to prepare lectures in orthopaedics and physical science for the College of Nursing which now has 40 students and 5 lecturers (including the principal). He is also a part-time driver, pharmacist and project manager in addition to the clinical work. No time to be bored.”

Studio Dance SNYG (Sunday Night at The Grove)

We meet in the Activity Room and have warm up exercises on mats. Then comes the dancing with lots of energetic steps and novel dance routines, all accompanied by lively, popular music. There is a break for refreshment and chat and we finish with discussion and prayer. We have a great dance teacher who covers modern dancing, jazz, theatre craft and tap. It can be hard work but she makes it fun.

We opened in 2005 and our numbers have varied from 2 to 16. There are 8 in the group at present. Our shows have included “Curtain Call”, “Dynamite Dance”, and “Straight from the Studio”, and we have also contributed dances to special church services and to Scout Pantomimes.
